This incident I'm going to be talk about when I saw somebody in the haul drop there stuff and I help them pick it up. I could of just let them pick it up there self but instead I thought I would be nice and help this person out. At first the person was saying no no its ok I don't ~~need~~ need help but I insisted on helping her. She was so thankful for me helping her that she said thank about 3 times.

The next day I was walk and I bumped into some guy and all my stuff fell. And when it all fell on the floor about three people came up and asked me if I need help I said sure. The lesson I learned ~~was~~ ~~is~~ do not ~~other~~ do unto other as they what to be unto you.

I really do not get what this paper I trying to get me to write and this is my first day at this school so I'm not sure what to do.

p.s. I already took a test like this at my old school.

And I dont know what kind of lesson your talk about.
